
Title: a dusty tome

Author:

=====

A skull made of pure ebony appears on this page. It radiates tainted magical energy inviting those who see it to embrace Entropy.

=====

Behold these bones and heed these words
children of the Ebon Skull! What rests upon these walls in front of thine own eyes are the remains of those whose thoughts and words have betrayed the Ebon Skull. This is
justice to those who serve and then fall from the grace; We are not tolerant of those who fall from the embrace of Entropy and Oblivion...

Children, look with
thine eyes and see the bones of the Covetous Pair and their brood.
Those who would dare to envy and attempt to deceive Lord Nizar,
first of the first,
those misguided
children are the destroyers of Stygia
and those who let the Inequities fall from Our presence. Never let this happen again or thou shalt suffer the same fate. Let their bones be bound into the brick and mortar of Golgotha
and be a constant

reminder of vigilance to those who would dare act as they did.

Oblivion is not a
forgiving Master.

The Skull has spoken, so shalt it be
done.

Children, look with
thine eyes and see the
bones of the fallen
Daemon Lord
Merrick. His own
arrogance and rashness hast brought the wrath of Lord Azalin upon his rotting vessel. His defiance is the folly
of traitors, the folly of the misguided and fools. None but such a fool would dare defy
the Skull. Never let
this happen again or thou shalt suffer the same fate. Let his bones be bound into
the brick and mortar
of Golgotha and be a
constant reminder of
vigilance to those who would dare act as he did.

Oblivion is not a
forgiving Master.
The Skull has
spoken, so shalt it be
done.

Children, look with
thine eyes and see the
bones of the fallen
Del'Roh, Roland
Deschain. His own
arrogance and
rashness has brought the wrath of the Lich Lord Azalin upon his vain countenance. His defiance is the folly
of traitors, the folly
of the mislead and doomed. None but such a fool would dare defy

the Skull. Never let his happen again or
thou shalt suffer the
same fate. Let his
bones be bound into
the brick and mortar
of Golgotha and be a
constant reminder of
vigilance to those who would dare act as he did.

Oblivion is not a
forgiving master.

The Skull has
spoken, so shall it be
done.

Children, look with
thine eyes and see the
bones of the fallen
necromancer Pazuzu.
His own egotism and indiscretion with the beliefs of Ebon Skull hast brought the wrath of Entropy
upon his defiled bones.

His insolence is the madness of traitors,
the folly of the
misguided and fools.
None but such a fool
would dare defy the Skull. Never let
this happen again or
thou shalt suffer the
same fate. Let his
bones be bound into
the brick and mortar
of Golgotha and be a
constant reminder of
vigilance to those who
would dare act as
they did.

Oblivion is not a
forgiving master.

The Skull has
spoken, so shalt it be
done.

Children, look with
thine eyes and see the
bones of the fallen
necromancer Gnosis

Jade. His own narcissism and overreaching belief of his own self-importance has brought the destruction of his body and the debasement of his bones. His insolence is the
psychosis of traitors,
the folly of the
misguided and fools.
None but such a fool
would dare defy the Skull. Never let
this happen again or
thou shalt suffer the
same fate. Let his
bones be bound into
the brick and mortar
of Golgotha and be a
constant reminder of
vigilance to those who
would dare act as
they did.

Oblivion is not a
forgiving master.

The Skull has
spoken, so shalt it be
done.